Advance Sales Near Quota Set For Final Hop

Ticket sales for June Finals are nearing the 400 mark according to the latest figures gathered from Rux Birnie, chairman of the Dance Committee and his ticket agents. More than 130 tickets had been sold by Saturday, Rux said. An additional 215 tickets were sold to the sororities Monday night, Betty Mills, ticket agent, stated yesterday. This brings the approximate total to 345 tickets leaving 55 to be held by May 6 in order to meet the advance sale quota.

Seniors may purchase photographic copy from the COLONIAL ECHO on Wednesday, May 1, from 7:00 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. in the ECHO office.

ing 55 to be held by May 6 in order to meet the advance sale quota.

Sorority presidents were contacted Monday and eight agreed to buy 25 tickets and one 15 tickets. Checks for these sales totaling $1419.00 will be collected by today, Betty said.

Handbills and posters have been plastered in all available places on the campus and unique advertising stunts are being planned, according to Frank Beale, member of the Dance Committee working on sale of tickets. A thermometer has been placed on "jockey corner" with blank spaces for a band at the top. As soon as enough money has been obtained for one band member the space will be filled in with the ultimate goal of having a complete band.

"I have complete confidence that we will have June Finals this year," Rux stated in regard to student response being manifested.

"Too Many Husbands" Ends Theatre Season Tonight; Woodberry, Rand, Weaver Star In Maugham Comedy

William and Mary players will complete the 1945-46 season when the curtain opens on W. Somerset Maugham's comedy, Too Many Husbands, tonight at 8:00, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The farce on English manners will end the series of varied productions given this year: Pygmalion, Murder in the Cathedral, and Ladies in Retirement.

The cast of the play is as follows: William, Walter Weaver; Frederick, Sumner Rand; Victoria, Marilyn Woodberry; Leicester Paton, Gene Heck; Mr. Raham, Joe Buchanan; Miss Montmorency, Ginna Lewis; Mrs. Shuttleworth, Gene Griffin; Miss Denis, Macy Diggs; Mrs. Pogson, Jill Stauff; Taylor, Marianne Lewis-Jones; Nannie, Nancy Adams; Clarence, Dick Bethards.

Play Goes To West Point, Va.
Too Many Husbands will be presented in Williamsburg tonight and Thursday, and will be given at West Point, Va., under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club, on Friday evening.

The play concerns the dilemmas of Victoria ("a dear little thing," according to Maugham), who finds that she is married to two men, William (a hero previously reported dead) and Frederick (another hero and the first husband's best friend). With the aid of Mr. Paton (a wrangler), Mr. Raham (a solicitor), Miss Montmorency (a maiden lady), and Mrs. Shuttleworth (a mother-in-law) the problem is solved.

Victoria describes herself as a woman who doesn't want to be understood, "just loved." Frederick says of himself that he has a charming nature and is extremely handsome, while William declares himself to be an "almost perfect specimen of manly beauty."

Mr. Raham, who believes that there must be absurd laws to break or, "how else would lawyers earn their living?" says that Miss Montmorency has "figured in practically all the fashionable divorces of the last 15 years." Mrs. Shuttleworth states that "the men who wear spats always make the best husbands." Mr. Paton is the man who wears them.

Miss Hunt Directs
Miss Althea Hunt is director of the play and Miss Phyllis Kendall is designer and technician. Assistant to the director is Bristow Hardin Jr.; assistants in production are Wilford Leach and John Wells. Mary Beth Watson is in charge of set properties, and Nancy Adams and Marianne Lewis-Jones are in charge of hand properties. Make-up will be under the direction of

Debate Team Journeys To 4 Southern Colleges

William and Mary's Debate team meets four opponents this week on the first leg of its southern circuit. The debaters left Monday for Columbia, S. C., where they met the University of South Carolina last night. From there they continue to Florida where they face three engagements—the University of Florida at Tallahassee, Florida State Women's College at Gainesville, and Miami University at Miami.

Successful in their northern trip when they defeated Temple University and Columbia University, the team is looking for decisions in the southern trip which will give it a better than 50 per cent average for the season.

Ann Anderson is manager of the southern trip and Nancy Grube and Kenneth Scott will speak for William and Mary. The 1946 national debate topic is "Resolved: That the foreign policy of the United States should be directed toward the establishment of free trade among the nations of the world."

Following their return next week, the southern team will subsequently meet the University of Richmond and the University of Virginia completing the year's schedule.

Student Assembly Must Do Something

"What ever happened to the Point System, anyway?" somebody asked the other day. It's an interesting question. We think the entire student body should have the story.

The Point System started out in a committee of the Inter-Club Council. The committee worked out a System. The Inter-Club Council passed it. The Student Assembly passed it. Then the Senate took it to the General Co-operative Committee and the trouble began. Someone, somehow, gave Co-op the impression that although the Assembly passed the System they didn't really mean it.

A week later it began to look as if the detractors were right, because the Assembly reversed its decision and referred the Point System back to the Inter-Club Council. The Inter-Club Council hasn't met as we write this or we'd probably be able to report that the System was now back in the original committee.

This is an example of extreme inefficiency. There are two explanations: 1) the Assembly didn't think it out the first time, or 2) the Assembly is letting itself be "run" by a few people who are willing to defeat the majority opinion by swaying the suggestible members of the Assembly. Either explanation speaks ill for the Student Assembly.

The new Assembly will be elected Friday. On that day, the students will name representatives who will conduct the business of student legislation for a full year. Among those representatives there is no place for either suggestible students or those who will ignore the majority will.

When the Point System comes up for the third time, it will appear before the new group—a group starting with a clean slate. This is an opportunity for the Assembly to start afresh and prove to us that they know their function, that they are not so eager to get through with meetings that they will disregard the business brought before them. This time the students expect a decision.

Problem Needs Serious Consideration

We have hashed over and griped in FLAT HAT editorials all year long for the things that the students want. It takes more than talk to accomplish anything and it seems to take more than talk or writing to put on any pressure to clear up many situations that seem important to us. Putting the college back on a pre-war basis is not an easy task. However, for four years the war was used as an excuse for everything, and now that the war is over it still is just a matter of waiting, no one knows how long, to have some cooperation on student problems.

This matter of cooperation is a problem for both the administration and the students. Each group seems to be confident that the other is in the wrong. Yet neither group can get together on causes or remedies. If the students complain, it is the administration's fault; And the administration constantly claims that students themselves are to blame for their dissatisfactions.

Realizing too, that discussion and planning are necessary before changes can be made, we would like to state some of the problems that seem to us to need careful attention and study. We will not attempt to evaluate them at present, but are presenting them, because they need consideration.

- (1) Social Problems . . . Do women need as much regulation as the present set of social rules provide?
- (2) Honor System . . . is it really working as it should and are students willing to accept the responsibility involved?
- (3) Cafeteria . . . the complaints about the food are numerous should the students be allowed to eat where they please rather than be forced to buy a food book each month?
- (4) Student Government . . . what does it mean to the students; can it assume its latent power?
- (5) Campus politics . . . are they a necessary evil?
- (6) Fine Arts Department . . . will the college backing necessary to make this department a first rate one be forthcoming? Will the students show active interest?
- (7) Recreation Facilities . . . will the much needed Student Union Building materialize from a fictional dream?

William and Mary Go-Round

By FRED FRECHETTE and DICK CARTER

RUX CAN'T DO IT ALONE . . .

We have all been hearing much talk and seeing beaucoup in print about June Finals. Perhaps we have heard and seen too much which did not exactly tell us the score. At the risk of being a bore, I would like to present an outline of the situation which confronts us, as I see it.

William and Mary, during and before the late President Bryan's regime, presented each spring during graduation week end, one of the most glamorous and bang-up college dances given anywhere in the country. It was an event to be remembered, an event to which, each June, flocked countless alumni and friends of the college. That much, I'm sure, most of you know.

It was the policy of the college, dating back to the second decade of this century, to actually present, if not underwrite, these dances. But the work of presenting these affairs, and putting them over, fell to the students. The students in those glorious days did not merely sit back and reap in the benefices of a benevolent administration. They worked to make June Finals the successes they were.

Now, in our first post-war year, we have a new president, one who, like so many of us, never saw a June Finals at William and Mary. Naturally, being the prudent man he is, he keeps an eye on the purse strings. But he has been ill-advised . . . and consequently, the college is not underwriting our dance.

We can still, however, have our dance. We can have it, that is, if we (you, your roommate, my roommate, and me) want it enough. Too many of the students have accumulated a propensity for waiting for Things which Drop in Laps. Let's eliminate the waiting laps by getting off our collective seats, digging in the pockets, buying the tickets, and thereby giving Rux Birnie something with which to bargain.

If we don't get a good band, we get our dough back. If we don't get on the ball and buy our tickets today, those who have bought their tickets will be getting refunds.

Of course, we could look at it unselfishly. If we can put this dance over, the Purse Strings will have no excuse for not underwriting next year's event. Then the future Rux Birnie's will not lose hair they can't afford to part with. In fact, I think I'll buy a ticket just to try to remove the circles Rux has developed under his eyes worrying about the dance.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS . . .

Those of you who heard and enjoyed the Christmas Concert by the combined Choir, Chorus, and Glee Club which Mr. Fehr engineered will probably enjoy next Tuesday evening's presentation as much, if not more . . . to your profit as well as to the profit of the choral groups.

The Girls' Chorus and Men's Glee Club are working together to give you an evening as enjoyable as that night last December. Numbers you'll like: The girls singing "Summertime" and "Symphony"; the men's "One Alone" and "The Riff Song"; and the combined presentation (120 voices) of "The Road is Callin'" and "Onward Ye People." And there's lots more, too . . . with Mr. Fehr at the helm.

Poppy Day, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will make its appearance on this campus and in Williamsburg in about three weeks.

Poppy Day is familiar to many people for it is on that day that artificial poppies are sold throughout the nation to give support to a worthy project. The V. F. W. maintains a home in Eaton Rapids, Mich., to provide for the families of those veterans who gave their lives in the defense of this country. These poppies are made by disabled veterans and convalescent veterans in military hospitals. It is not a means of income for these veterans, but it is their way of assisting these families and endorsing such a charitable project. We can go even further by buying these poppies and contributing money to show our appreciation and gratitude.

These artificial poppies will be sold throughout Williamsburg and on the campus by various members of the V. F. W. and by the local Boy Scout Troop. It has been suggested that at the dance of May 18, no corsages of regular flowers be worn by the coeds. Instead, the coeds will wear corsages of poppies which will be sold at the door. The price of these corsages will be only that which you wish to contribute.

After last week end Schmidt's can afford to overlook the profits they might otherwise receive . . . in fact, they would probably endorse it.

Letter To The Editor

To the Student Body:

The Men's and Women's Honor Councils wish to announce that there will be no re-voting for the office of Secretary-Treasurer of the Sophomore Class. Because of a re-count of the ballots, it was found that no tie exists. Therefore, the election has been decided in favor of Tuga Wilson.

Harry Stinson

fernt story. In other words, the student body would better appreciate the importance of voting.

Why are these campus elections so different from any other elections where complete tabulations of the voting are given? If a candidate is afraid it will become known that he made a poor showing, that candidate should not have entered the contest for office.

True, it probably is not so important to know how many votes the candidates received as it is to know which candidates were victorious. However, in view of the fact that elections here are supposed to be conducted in a manner becoming to college students, it hardly seems necessary to worry about protecting the feelings of students who have enough confidence in themselves to run for office.

Ex-WAC Officer Becomes W-M Dietician

By TERRIE HOWE

"Just a moment, please." It was long distance from Betsy Douglas. Would she like to take a job as dietician at William and Mary? "Well," said the Lt. Colonel, "If you want to get out, you can." Thus, Betsy cut short her army career and returned to her alma mater. "I was supposed to have 30 points, be married, or be 35. I didn't qualify on any," laughed Betsy. "I got out on a public welfare clause."

After her graduate work in Boston, she became a hospital dietician in the army, and did hospital work from then on. "I miss it," she said, "The boys were good patients. But there's something about this place that gets you." So she's back—this time on the other side of the food counter.

Betsy starts off at 5:30 a. m. and works until the early afternoon, when Mrs. Dee takes over. Her job is to order from the store-room, and supervise the personnel and cleanliness. "You don't have to know patients' case histories here," she said, "but it's a big job. I feel like I'm back in school, working eight hours a day and studying every night."

Betsy, who lives in the Tyler Hall apartments on campus, is right into things again. She's going to play her cello in the orchestra as she used to; she helps on committees; she serves on the Phi Beta Phi alumni board; and is "still dragging back from the tennis court after a big game." "So many of the class of '43 are back too; so it's really fun!" said Betsy.

Mary DeVol, Mel Wright Reign At May Day Formal

Queen Mary DeVol and King Mel Wright are the center of attention at the May Dance one minute after the spotlight revealed the well-kept secret of the identity of the monarchs.

By JANE COLEMAN

Amidst a gay whirl of pastels and soft music, the May season was ushered in last Saturday night at the annual May Day dance. Climaxing the evening's frivolity, Mary DeVol and Mel Wright were crowned May Queen and King. Dr. Pomfret placed the crown of flowers on Mary, while Mrs. Pomfret crowned Mel.

The ceremony of crowning took place during intermission, after 17 members of the choir, Melon Bowie, Marjorie Dykes, Marjorie Bowman, Kitty Settle, Monie Price, Liz Mylander, Jill Stauff, Bob Ascherl, Tom Athey, Howard Hyle, Ted Bailey, Bob DeForest, Joan Stout, Jackie Freer, Jack Hoey, Bill Hux, and Warren Smith, rendered two favorite melodies: Smoke Gets In Your Eyes, and Night and Day.

Flower girls sprinkled rose petals up the aisle while the crown bearers followed directly behind. Then, to the strains of Maytime, Dick Baker and Ann Vineyard; Bonnie Wolfgram and Stan Hudgins; Fran Moore and Tommy Smith; Jan Freer and Harry Stinson; Mary DeVol and Red Wood; Jerry Healy and Mel Wright walked the length of the gymnasium to where the throne was placed. The lights were turned off, and immediately following, a spot light was turned on the thrones where reigned the new king and queen.

Pastel shades of pink, blue, green, yellow, and white crepe paper draped both gyms. Extending from the balcony, the paper met together at the maypole which was plaited with the light-colored streamers. A white lattice-work fence outlined a small promenade around both the gyms.

Refreshments were served in the lounge. Pink candle-light cast delicate shadows on an ivy trimmed fence which marked a walk to the refreshment table, where punch and small chocolate cakes were being served.

Eddie Travis's Band from Newport News, Va., played for the dance, and they featured Betty Jane Curtis as the vocalist. Among the pieces played were the following popular numbers: Day by Day, Seems Like Old Times, Oh, What It Seemed To Be, and Tomorrow Is Forever.

The May Day Dance was sponsored by the WSCGA. The Executive Council, under the direction of Pat Jones, planned the decorations and entertainment for it.

Rux Birnie, head of the dance committee, was the master of ceremonies during intermission.

"The Voice" Birnie Causes Coed Heart Failure

"Oh, that voice!" sigh the coeds on the William and Mary campus. They refer, not to Sinatra or Crosby, but to Ruxton Birnie, the returned veteran, who has become chairman of the Student Dance Committee.

Born in Ludlow, Mass., on June 2, 1919, Rux attended the Ludlow High School and Williston Preparatory School in East Hampden, Massachusetts. During his years in high school and prep school he acted as president of the Student Council, worked on publications, and was a member of the Glee Club. He took singing parts in Trial By Jury, The Mikado, and Pirates of Penzance. Rux also played three major sports: football, baseball, and basketball.

In 1939, Rux graduated from prep school, and he entered William and Mary in the same year. He became a member of the "13 Club," the Backdrop Club, and Theta Delta Chi, social fraternity. Rux also took an active part in the Varsity Shows of 1940 and 1941.

In the spring of 1941, Rux left college to enter the Army. He spent a year as an enlisted bombardier and served in the Atlantic Patrol. Rux was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in 1942, and was attached to the General Staffs of General Frank Armstrong and General Robert Travis. While overseas, he was stationed on Guam and rose to the rank of Major. He was mustered out on January 5, 1946 and returned to William and Mary in February.

"I spent most of my time here in the country with the Second Air Force in Colorado Springs, Colorado. When I went overseas, though, my most interesting experience was dropping food and clothes to the American Prisoners of War in Korea," said Rux.

"Since I have returned to William and Mary I have been aware of the great change that the war has brought to the campus. I have no doubt, however, that we will soon see the college back to the pre-war status," remarked the ex-Major. He feels that the return of the Backdrop Club and the Varsity Shows would be a great help in bringing back the old traditions to the campus. "I also feel," said Rux, "that the return of the fraternities will mean a lot to the school. I only hope that they can regain their houses soon."

Rux says that he has only one idiosyncrasy and that is, "singing all the time." "Although it is rumored that I am 'stuffy' at times, I am really very easy to get along with," laughed Rux.

Acomb Leads UNO Seminar

United Nations Organization and World Peace will be the topic for the next meeting of the Marshall-Wythe Seminar on Friday, May 10. Miss Evelyn M. Acomb, assistant professor of history, will act as chairman for the discussion.

At the April 26 meeting Habib Kurani spoke on The Middle East and the Problem of Pan Islam. Mr. Kurani was Dean of the University of Beirut in Lebanon. When he came to the United States, he lectured for awhile at William and Mary. From here he went to Princeton University. Then he worked for the OWI where he was in charge of Middle Eastern affairs.

Mr. Kurani began his talk by defining what he meant by the Near East. He pointed out that even though the region is extremely diversified. There is a fundamental unity because of the common traditions and culture imbedded in the religion called Islam. He went on to speak of the importance of the Near East, the basic problems, and the attitudes of the great powers. He told too of the conflicting Moslem groups and what they advocate in regard to the West. Mr. Kurani concluded by discussing America's interest in the Near East.

Dr. George J. Ryan, associate professor of ancient languages, led the discussion which followed.

Bot - E - Talk

Last week end gets Bot's vote for being the lost week end of the year, what with sorority dances, fraternity parties, the May Day Dance, and Ernie Edwards on second floor Barrett. The sunken garden steps are occupied every night of the week . . . ah, it could be the merry month of May, and then again, it could be those ever susceptible stars. Romances are flourishing anew; dates for finals are coming through . . . by hook or by crook. All in all, the campus is definitely taking on a pre-war aspect.

Biologists Give Open House

Microbeville, miniature model community sponsored by the bacteriology class, was the special attraction of the Biology Open House, held on the first floor of Washington Hall, last night from 7:00 to 10:00 p. m. Featuring a hospital blood bank, a cocktail bar, and a fashion show which reproduced the pigments of various organisms, Microbeville demonstrated the importance of microbes in daily life.

All classes in the Biology Department showed the type of work done in their section. Other exhibits included blood pressure demonstrations and experiments with living frogs, by the physiology class, and living chicken embryos belonging to the embryology department.

Saturday, April 26, the Clayton-Grimes Biology Club made its annual field trip to Yorktown to collect marine specimens for the Open House and for freshman laboratories next year. The excursion, which lasted from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. included a boat trip up the York River, and a picnic luncheon.

SPORTS SPIEL

By BUD JONES

At the recent tennis matches here there have been several breaches of tennis etiquette on the part of the fans.

When a William and Mary opponent makes an error, clapping is not in order. Naturally during a rough match the spectators are excited and want to show their enthusiasm by clapping when a man gets a point. However, when the player makes a point by putting the ball away, an ovation is desirable. This is true whether a William and Mary man makes the point or if an opponent makes the point. It is probably very aggravating to a player when a huge roar goes up when he makes a mistake.

Several times in a match there are long volleys with plenty of good shots. Here also, there is a tendency to clap. This should be held until the end of the point.

Coach Dick Gallagher has announced that the track meet scheduled for Saturday at Cary Field between the Tribe and the Wake Forest Deacons has been moved up to Friday.

Despite the lopsided scores against the locals in track competition it must be realized that it takes time to build up a good team in any sport. A good example of this is the football squad. It has taken two years to build up that team to what it is today. Therefore we expect that in a couple of years William and Mary will be well represented on the cinder paths.

One of the reasons for the scores in track is that only one man is entered in some events. Second and third places add up points also. We realize, however, that the squad is extremely small and the talent not too well dispersed.

The Indian net squad faces Princeton today and then returns to play host to Wake Forest on Friday and Miami on Monday.

Water Circus To Present Routines and Comic Acts

Eight acts will comprise the Water Circus to be given in Blow Pool on May 9 at 8 p. m. The circus, sponsored by the Water Safety Corps, will be made up of swimmers from the Corps, varsity team, and advanced swimming classes.

With a background of costumes and music, synchronized swimming routines and a number of comic acts will be presented in the program. There will also be varied diving performances in addition to a water skit given by a group of boys during intermission. A special feature will be a door prize to the holder of the lucky number.

The pageant is under the general supervision of Marty Adams. There will be no admission charge.

Those participating in the circus are Mildred Riddle, Virginia Whittemore, Elizabeth Mylander, Betty Gillan, Bobbie Majesky, Eleanor Lang, Elaine Weinrod, Harriet Hochstrasser, Alice Newhill, Becky Bechtol, Margo Ross, Peggy Ballentine, Jane Ann Hogg, Barbara Davison, Jean Bevans, Marge Williams, Penny Allenbaugh, Jean Black, Bonnie Green, Marjorie Wedge, Elaine Akehurst, and Jane Seaton.

W-L Downs Tribe Behind Boyda, 5-4

Putting on a ninth inning rally that fell one run short of tying, the Big Green baseball team lost to the Washington and Lee Generals, 5-4, on April 26, at Cary Field.

Jimmy Stewart was the starting and losing hurler for the Tribe, as he was knocked out of the box in the sixth, having given up all the visitors' runs and twelve hits. Boyda was the winning pitcher, for the Generals, handcuffing the Tribe hitters all the way.

Behind 5-2 as the last inning began, the Braves put two runs across, but failed to bring in the tying run from third. Isaacs began the inning on a single with one away. Bernhard then popped to Schneider at third, but Harry Robison slammed a two-base hit into left field to put runners at second and first.

Tommy Korczowski brought in the runs when he sent a hot grounder at the third baseman, who couldn't quite handle the ball and let it roll into left field. Tommy taking second on the play. Doc Post took several pitches, including a passed ball which allowed Korczowski to take third, before he finally lifted a foul to left field for the third out.

The winners took the lead in the second inning when Smith came around on a single, an error, and a single by Boyda. The Tribe came back in the bottom half of

W-M Defeats Peary Pirates

The Big Green batsmen staged a one-run ninth inning rally to break a three-all tie and beat the Camp Peary Pirates on Cary Field last Monday.

Knocking in the winning run on a squeeze play, the Redmen took their seventh triumph of the season, and made it two wins over the visitors. Bob Gill started the game for the locals, and went all the way, allowing three runs on seven hits, and striking out nine while walking only three.

With the score tied at three all Les Hooker opened the ninth on a single off relief pitcher Fauth, and took second on a passed ball. Les was caught off second, but reached third safely when the short stop, attempting to throw to third, hit Hooker in the back. Bill Lucas laid down a bunt toward first, and Hooker came roaring over home plate with the winning run.

Braves Score First

The Tribe opened the scoring in the second when Hooker tripled into left field. With two out Isaacs knocked the first run in on a single, and took second on an error. Lane Phillips brought Isaacs in on another safety.

The Pirates tied the score in the third on a walk and two hits, but the locals came right back to score another. Uetcher walked, stole second, took third on an error, and came in on an infield out. The Pirates knotted it again in the sixth with two hits and a stolen base.

The Redmen play Little Creek today on Cary Field in a game starting at 3:15. Saturday afternoon they journey up to Richmond to play the Spiders.

Indians Rout Cadets, 9-0; Middies Crushed By 8-1

By ED GRIFFIN

William and Mary's great tennis team turned in two spectacular victories last week end to begin their Northern invasion as they routed Navy, 8-1, and crushed a highly-touted Army squad by 9-0.

Gardner Larned added two more brilliant victories to his record and gave further proof, if any were needed, that he is headed for high national ranking. The Tribe star dropped only six games in his singles competition.

In extending their winning streak to 18 consecutive triumphs, the

VMI Track Team Defeats Redmen

Indian supporters had little to cheer about at Virginia Military Institute last Saturday, as the Cadet thincads easily beat the William and Mary team 82-44.

Despite a cold wind and a soggy track, fair times were registered, with the VMI men taking 11 out of 14 first places. The Cadets took all three places in the two mile run, high jump and broad jump. The Tri-color copped two firsts, Lizana winning the discus event, and Deierhoi winning the 120 yard high hurdles. The Tribe also managed to take seven second places and five third places.

Jack Hutchinson, of VMI, was high scorer of the meet with 13 points. He scored easy wins in the 220-yard dash, 220-yard low hurdles, and was second to Lynn Chewing in the 100-yard dash. The only other double winner was Frank Liddell, another Cadet, who took first in the mile and two mile runs.

Skirts In Sports

By BETTY COUMBE

It is difficult to find anyone in the United States who has benefited the game of tennis more than Mrs. George Wightman. With a background and record that reads like a good fiction book, the lively Bostonian has devoted her lifetime to halting the commercialization of the sport and raising the standards of women tennis.

Unusual Feats

Few people can comprehend the perserverence, concentration, and skill required of a person to win contests under the peculiar conditions Mrs. Wightman found herself at times.

In self-defense the former Hazel Hotchkiss entered her first tournament, the Bay County Tourney, in California, a very short time after she started playing tennis. The contest was held on cement courts, a surface completely foreign to her, yet she won the title with comparative ease.

Perhaps the fact hardest to understand came about in 1909, the year she won her first National Singles Championship at Philadelphia. Never having seen a grass court before, Mrs. Wightman went out and defeated everyone, including the defending champion, Mrs. Wallach. It is a known fact that two or three weeks is necessary to accustom one to grass courts; however, with the idea of keeping the ball coming back and capitalizing on her opponents' errors she gained an excellent advantage.

Oak And Cromwell Add Strength To Net Squad

Completing Coach Martha Barksdale's varsity net squad, in fifth and sixth positions, are Margy Oak and Hunt Cromwell. Margy will be playing on the team for her second year, while Hunt, a freshman, is making her debut for the Squaws this season.

Margy confesses that she always thought that "tennis was a dumb game." She began playing when she was 14 years old and only because a doctor told her it would be good for her eyes. Since then she has learned to eat her words about the sport and also has progressed rapidly in playing skill.

Coming from the small town of Bound Brook, New Jersey, Margy found no one to play with except boys. So she took an extra bite of courage and went out for the boys' tennis team at her high school. She made the team, but in an odd sort of a way. When her Alma Mater was leading by a wide margin, the coach sent her in to play doubles with the team's number one player. "So you see," she explained, "we were sure to win." At other times she contented herself with the hallowed position of water girl.

When Marge came to William and Mary she played her first match with a member of her own sex. She started her college career in 1943 by playing the number one spot for Barrett Hall.

Last year she made the varsity squad, playing in the number five position. In matches with North Carolina, the Norfolk Division, and the Hermitage Tennis Club of Richmond, Marge downed all her opponents to earn an undefeated season.

In this year's initial match with Sweet Briar, Margy teamed with Hunt Cromwell in the number two doubles match. The team earned an easy victory in straight sets.

Hunt Cromwell has been playing tennis ever since she was a little girl, but her serious playing began about six years ago. She was a "ball girl" at a tournament at the Baltimore Country Club when she decided she really liked the sport.

Her first competitive tennis came when she played on the varsity team at the Roland Park Country School in her home town, Baltimore, Md. She played varsity for two years, acting as captain her last year. At the same time she captured the tournament at the school.

Continuing her tournament playing, Hunt took runner-up position in the doubles contests in the Maryland State Senior Women's Tennis Division. In discussing her other contests, Hunt pointed out that she played Doris Hart. With pride, she stated, "I got one point." Then with a little laugh, she added, "She made doubles on a serve."

As an early climax to her career, Hunt earned a position on the Junior Wightman Cup Squad about five years ago.

the inning on a fielder's choice, an error by the shortstop Smith, and singles by Stewart and Korczowski, which allowed Fox and Phillips to score.

The visitors then went on to score single tallies in the third and fourth innings, to tie the score, and then go ahead. In the sixth an error, two singles, and a walk brought in two more runs for the Generals and sent Stewart to the showers for his first loss.

Coed Tennis Team Down Sweet Briar

Winning every match in straight sets, the William and Mary coed tennis squad racked up a 5-0 victory in its initial tournament last Saturday against Sweet Briar College. The games were played on the courts at the Williamsburg Inn because the college courts were too wet for play.

Elaine Passow, playing in the number one spot, used her strategy to conquer Nancy Waite, 6-3, 6-2, in a one-sided match. Pat Macken downed Cynthia Bemiss in the number two match, 6-1, 6-1, while Beegie Grant made a quick job of Ann Lile by the same score.

Playing in the number one doubles spot for the Squaws, Betty Coumbe and Barbara Davis shel-lacked Ann Samford and Rose-mary Gugert. The Tri-Color duet dropped only two games in the en-tire match. Remembering various pointers from Mrs. Wightman, Coumbe and Davis showed im-proved form and excellent place-ment shots.

Completing the victory for the coeds were Margy Oak and Hunt Cromwell, who played in the number two doubles position. They conquered Nancy Dowd and Joan McCoy from Sweet Briar, 6-2, 6-2.

Tri Delt, Chandler Capture Mural Honors In Softball

Going undefeated in three games, Tri Delt and Chandler have won won first place honors in their respective leagues. In the sorority League B, Chi Omega and Pi Beta Phi are tied for the lead, each having won two games.

Chi Omega scored 22 runs to defeat Alpha Chi Omega on Monday, April 22. The Chi O's were successful in their scoring until the Alpha Chi's, changing their defensive tactics, prevented the winners from making more than four runs during the last innings. The Chi O team allowed their opponents to cross home plate only three times.

On the same day the Chi Omega second team, in a tight game, racked up 10 runs to seven for Kappa Kappa Gamma's second team. This game was the only one which the Kappa team has lost during the playing period.

Kappa Wins

Tuesday saw Kappa Kappa Gamma slugging out a victory against the Gamma Phi Beta team. The winning team adding constantly to the score, chalked up 24 runs and never permitted the Gamma Phi's to score during the entire contest.

During the first four innings of the Phi Mu-Tri Delt game, the Phi Mu's, with good fielding, kept the Tri Delt's from making more than four tallies, while they acquired nine runs out of their ten during this time. The Tri Delt's, after changing their outfielders, scored 11 more runs to win the game.

Jefferson Bows

On Wednesday, Barrett players taking the lead in the first inning and keeping it throughout the match, won their first game from Jefferson with a final score of 23-10. Tri Delt's second team, in a hard-fought game, finally lost to the Kappa second team 15-10. A last inning spurt of seven runs by the losers was not enough for them to win the game.

Preventing the Kappa Alpha Theta second team from crossing the plate more than once, the Chi Omega second team defeated the Theta second team, 39-1. The Theta second team forfeited to Chi O third, as did Monroe to Chandler and Jefferson, thus giving Chandler its championship and Chi O its first victory.

The standing in the various leagues are as follow:

Jack Netcher, W-M Outfielder, Has Excellent Sports Record

Jack Netcher, Tribe outfielder, brings to William and Mary an outstanding high school record. Born in Niagara Falls, Ontario, Jack later moved to Asbury Park, New Jersey where he began a highly versatile sports career.

He first became acquainted with American sports in junior high school and played four years of baseball in high school. He alternated between the outfield and catcher's slot and his superlative play caused his selection to the All-State team in '41-'42. Jack was also team captain these two years and his high school batting average was a powerful .465.

Not only was Jack outstanding in baseball but he was All-State in football in '40-'41-'42 and was named to the All-State basketball five in '41. His terrific play on the gridiron in the fullback position was in a large part the reason Jack was given the distinction of being chosen the outstanding New Jersey athlete in 1942.

Entering the army in January, 1943, Jack shipped overseas in March, 1943. He was with the 34th division in Africa and later was assigned to the 8th Replacement Depot in Italy. Jack was a member of the Depot's baseball team which boasted several big leaguers, and the team won 54 straight games to secure the Italian championship. Like most of the Yanks who went to foreign countries Jack says he passed up the opportunity to enjoy Italian literature in the original. However, he did learn enough Italian to secure the essentials of life.

Jack returned to the States in November, 1945 and after looking over several schools decided on William and Mary. A Sigma Chi and a major in physical education, Jack plans to coach, although he has received offers from several big league ball clubs.

Stewart Shuts Out Richmond By 5-0

Jim Stewart, Tribe mound ace, hurled three-hit ball to shut out Richmond, 5-0, in a Big Six contest played at Cary Field last Wednesday.

Stewart, backed up by excellent fielding, struck out five and issued but one pass as he handcuffed the Spiders. Aside from the trio of safeties which the visitors collected, they were able to drive only one ball to the outfield.

Lou (Frog) Burdette went all the way for Richmond and turned in a creditable performance, allowing just six blows, all singles. However, four errors by his teammates and the same number of stolen bases by the Indians contributed largely to his defeat.

The Braves' first tally was donated by their opponents in the opening inning. Bill Post was safe on an error by Kranitzky and immediately proceeded to steal second. A passed ball sent him to third and Jack Netcher's infield out brought him home.

Scott Field Offers Vet Flight Training

By FLETCHER COX

Several of my buddies have been out at the airport this past week, having been drawn out there for the sole purpose of seeing me botch up a landing or two. It all started "week before last," when I was first given the chance to do nothing but take the plane off and shoot landings by myself—with the instructor present to ward off impending disaster, of course. When I returned to the College from my lesson, I guess I did a little bragging, for my landings, although lacking in finesse, were a lot better than I had hoped they would ever be. All that I heard in response to my enthusiastic accounts of three-point landings was "Don't get too confident now, because the next time you'll probably shear off the landing gear."

Disappointed Onlookers

My scheduled half-hour of instruction was last Tuesday and it was attended by a group of friends intent upon seeing my remains intermingled with cracked struts and collapsed wings all over Scott Field. Amazingly enough, the landings on Tuesday were pretty good too. It was a disappointed group of onlookers who greeted my return from my last landing. There was only one consolation to their grief at my success—when taking off, I neglected to open the throttle as wide as possible. That netted me a supreme calling down from Mr. Diggs, my instructor.

Wind Difficulties

Saturday's lesson did dampen my spirits somewhat, for the wind was blowing in gusts, and wind-drift had to be accounted for. My control of the plane still lacks something; for, when correcting for wind drift while landing, I failed to use the rudder to the fullest extent—the landings left much to be desired. The take-offs were better, for I remembered to open the throttle wide.

Now that I have had five and a half hours of instruction, I guess those wings growing out of my shoulder blades are there to stay. There's a lot more work to do before I can solo; but a definite start has been made.

Mr. G. T. Diggs, of Aviation Services, Inc., has announced that approval has been secured to give flight training under the G. I. Bill of Rights. Flying may be taken in conjunction with college courses. Those interested should either telephone Scott Field, 265, or call at the airport personally.

Chemistry Scholarships Offered In WM Contest

With scholarships amounting to $500 as prizes, representatives of accredited public and private schools competed in the tenth annual Chemistry Contest sponsored by the College of William and Mary on Saturday, April 27.

A $300 scholarship, $100 a year for three years, will go to the person who makes the highest marks in the competitive test. The person with the next highest grade will receive $100 for two years.

Contestants spent the week end as guests of the College. Meals and sleeping accommodations were furnished and a tour of the Restoration was the highlight of the week end's recreation.
